Rules

Object of the game

Be the first to see 10 ponies from the trails of the Chincoteague National Wildlife Refuge on Assateague Island and return to the refuge entrance.

General play

The first player puts her/his pawn on the circle marked with the star, spins the wheel and moves the number of spaces indicated by the arrow. After she/he has completed her/his play, the turn to play passes to the left. The pawns remain on the game board circles occupied and proceed from that point on the player's next turn.

If the pawn lands on a gray circle, the player does nothing. When it lands on a red circle, the player spins the wheel. If the arrow points to a pony, the player “saw” a pony and takes a card.

The first player to see 10 ponies (collect 10 cards) and return to the beginning starred circle wins.

Movement

At the start of a turn, the pawn may move in any direction. Once started it may not turn and go back in the direction that it come from.

Only one pawn may occupy a circle. If the end of the turn would result in the pawn landing on an occupied circle, place the pawn on the next unoccupied circle.

At a dead end the last circle is reached on a roll equal to or greater than the number of circles remaining.

Assembly Instructions

What you need

1. The 4 page game components PDF printed on card stock.
2. Good scissors.
3. Scotch tape.
4. A pencil or pen.

The spinner

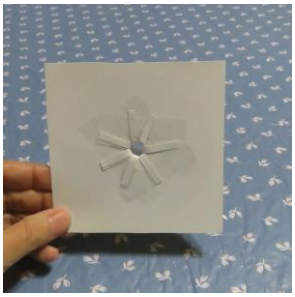

The spinner is used to determine how many spaces to move and whether or not a pony has been sighted. (You could alternatively use a 6-sided die and a coin flip.)

Cut out the 3 parts of the spinner; the base, the post, and the arrow. Also cut along the dotted lines. Curl the post around the pencil to shape it into a tube. Insert the post into the center hole of the base and let it expand to fit. Wrap tape around the tube to retain correct size. Fan out the tabs on the end of the post and tape them to the underside of the base. Fold the arrow on the line and tape together to form a double thickness.
